

Engagement can take many shapes and forms, from building more intentional relationships with faculty and playing in a music ensemble, to seeking service opportunities and being more academically involved (e.g., joining a professional organization and undergraduate research). Whatever you choose should be related to your goals and interests.

Part I - Goals and Interests

Take a moment and think about your academic and non-academic interests. Include that information in the space below.

Academic Goals/Interests:

Non-Academic Goals/Interests:

Part II - Opportunities by Passion Area

Which of the below passion areas best represent your above goals/interests?

- |                                    |                           |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| -Career & Professional Development | -Social & Interest Groups |
| -Research & Scholarship            | -Sports & Traditions      |
| -Service & Leadership              | -World & Culture          |

Visit the Engagement Database at <http://go.fiu.edu/engage> and select at least one opportunity using the passion area filter. Review the information including that found on its website and answer the below questions.

Opportunity:

- How will this benefit you?
- What is your first task?
- What is your self-assigned deadline to do this?

Part III - Medallions

The Center for Leadership and Service offers graduation medallions for recognition in both Leadership (Certified Student Leader Program/Badge) and Service (Excellence in Civic Engagement Medallion of Distinction).

Visit <http://go.fiu.edu/clsggradmedals> to learn more about each.

- Which of these medallions would you be interested in pursuing?
- What attracted you to your choice?
- What is your first task?
- What is your self-assigned deadline to do this?

READY — SET — ENGAGE!

