

Instructions: Declaration and Certification of Finances (DCF)

We can provide students admitted to the University with Certificates of Eligibility. Before issuing these certificates, we must receive student's documents (as described in the procedures below) by the deadlines associated with their terms of admission. We ask students to submit the Declaration and Certification of Finances form by email to admiss@fiu.edu for undergraduate and gradadm@fiu.edu for graduate students.

Please note: If you fail to comply with foreign student document submission dates and requirements, you may encounter delays in obtaining your visa that will have an impact on your date of entry to the U.S. Do not enter on a B-1/B-2 (tourist) visa or visa waiver. Students who enter the U.S. on a B-1/B-2 visa should not enroll in academic courses. To remain in status, tourist who wish to pursue academic coursework must leave the U.S. and return on the appropriate F-1 or J-1 visa. Failure to follow the instructions below may result in a delay of receiving the immigration papers you need to be a student in good standing at a U.S. institution of higher education.

Declaration and Certification of Finances

As part of the application process, you must complete the Declaration and Certification of Finances (DCF) and provide a copy of your passport (if you currently have a visa, please provide us with a copy of your current visa information). Immigration authorities require the university to verify financial resources of each applicant prior to issuing the Form I-20/DS-2019. By completing this form and submitting appropriate documentation, you will help us complete this verification in a timely manner.

Please note: We will accept copies, scans, or faxes. However, the Embassy/Consulate will require original financial information. During your visa appointment, you will present original financial documents that must match the information on the I20 or DS-2019. If you submit incomplete, inadequate, or falsified information, you may not receive a student visa. Your financial documents must be less than one month old when you submit them to our department. Applicants who submit older or partial documents will not be eligible to receive an I20 or DS-2019; it is the responsibility of the applicant to verify the accuracy and date of their documents prior to uploading them through the FIU portal.

Cost of Attendance

Your DCF must reflect the annual estimated cost of graduate or undergraduate attendance as summarized in table 1 (below). If you are admitted to the summer semester, you must show support that covers the costs included in the Twelve Month (Summer, Fall, Spring Terms) section of table 1.

Annual estimate of costs are based on the 2023-2024 Financial Aid Student Budgets available on the Onestop website: <https://onestop.fiu.edu/finances/estimate-your-costs/undergraduate-tuition-fees> Tuition and fees are subject to change and are estimates; costs do not reflect actual required payments to FIU. International students must be enrolled full-time to maintain their visa status. Full-time undergraduate enrollment is at least 12 credit hours per semester. Full-time graduate enrollment is at least 9 credit hours per semester. Students who are admitted in the Summer C semester must enroll full time; students admitted to Summer B must enroll for 6 credit hours.

We base living expenses on the “Off Campus” and “On Campus” room and board costs that our Office of Financial Aid defines for each academic year. During your first month living off campus, you will likely pay a security deposit and last month rent in addition to the first month rent. You should also prepare to address initial costs for electricity, water, and telephone.

Medical Insurance

All international students are required to carry medical insurance, which meets University requirements. A policy is available for purchase online from Student Health Services: <http://studenthealth.fiu.edu>. Health insurance coverage for a full year, August to August is estimated at $3,399 for a student and $3,399 each for a child and/or spouse. Students admitted into the summer term will pay an additional premium for Summer only medical insurance either an estimate of $976 for Summer A/C or, if available, an estimate of $488 for Summer B/Early Fall, otherwise insurance premiums are paid on an annual basis and cover Fall term – Summer term. To learn more about insurance please visit this website: <https://dasa.fiu.edu/student-support/wellness/immunization-insurance/index.html>

Current F-1 or J-1 Student Visa Holders

If you are currently holding an F-1 or J-1 student visa and plan to transfer from another U.S. institution to FIU, you must also submit a DCF with supporting documents as indicated above. Your current institution must release your SEVIS record to FIU before your new Form I-20/DS-2019 will be issued; this happens only after you are admitted to FIU. Therefore, you need to complete the top section of the F-1 Student Transfer Form (page 5) including your current U.S. address and have the international student advisor at your current/previous school complete the bottom section. Once we have received the form and your SEVIS record has been released, we will begin the process to issue a new Form I-20/DS-2019.

Information in SEVIS must be electronically forwarded to FIU before issuance of the new Form I-20/DS-2019 will be possible. Your SEVIS record will only be released at the end of the term in which you are currently enrolled.

Please do not plan any international travel without making appropriate arrangements for securing your new I-20/DS-2019 in advance. A minimum of two full weeks processing time is needed for your I-20/DS-2019 to be ready once all documents are received and approved. You must use a courier service if you leave the country without receiving your transfer I-20; you are strongly encouraged not to leave the country without your transfer I-20. We cannot guarantee faster processing time.

Current F-1 or J-1 Student Visa Holder Not in Status

If you are not in status at the time of your admissions offer, there are two options, reinstatement, or reentry into the United States. The process of reinstatement is lengthy and requires the approval by your previous institution, their request to SEVIS to reinstate your record and approval by U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). Your previous institution will not submit a reinstatement request, if you are not currently enrolled as a fulltime student, this includes if you have completed your program or have stayed beyond the 60-day grace period. For reentry, we will issue you a new initial I20 and request that you “restart” your F-1 status by reentering the United States. It is not suggested to make a new entry into the United States by way of the Caribbean. Taking a cruise is also not a viable reentry option. We strongly encourage that issuance of a new I-20 and reentry to the U.S. in most cases. Your new initial I-20 and new SEVIS number will require you to pay the SEVIS fee; you may not need a new F1 if your F-1 visa is still valid. Please retain your expired I-20.

Students with Dependents

Students who plan to bring their dependent(s) to the U.S. will require additional financial support to cover the dependents and must complete page 2 of the DCF form. The additional financial support should be reflected on the student’s DCF page 3 in the amount of $6,000 for his/her spouse and $4,000 for each child. Additional insurance for the family of F-1 students is optional, but highly recommended. Medical insurance is required for all J-2 dependents. F-2 dependents are not permitted to work but may enroll part-time in university coursework. F-1 students cannot serve as sponsors of F-1 students.

Athletes

Student Athletes are students who are enrolled full-time and formally part of a school sanctioned intercollegiate competitive sports program.

Next Steps

Once you receive your initial I-20/DS-2019 you should proceed to pay the SEVIS 1-901 Fee, schedule an appointment at a U.S. Embassy or Consulate and apply for an F-1 or J-1 visa. You can review these steps at: <https://admissions.fiu.edu/international/last-steps/index.html> The International Student and Scholar Services office provides a helpful pre-arrival guide on their website see: <https://iss.fiu.edu/international-students/new-f-1-students/index.html>

F-1 Student Transfer Form

All F1 student applicants transferring from a U.S. institution to FIU or being admitted from FIU's English Language Institute or from another FIU degree seeking program must complete this form. As part of the admissions process, your F1 visa status must be verified with your current institution, including high school and English language program. Complete section I and give this form to your international student advisor at your current/previous institution along with a copy of your admissions notification. Your international student advisor at your current/previous institution will complete section II of the form and should return it to Admissions via email. This form must include a specific release date to transfer your I20; the form will remain incomplete without it.

We cannot issue your I20 for transfer until your SEVIS record has been released from your current institution and until we receive the completed Transfer Form verifying your status. Issuance of the I-20 takes a couple of weeks after the release date. Do not plan to travel without arranging to receive a new I-20 from FIU prior to traveling, as you will not be allowed to reenter the U.S. on your previous I-20.

If you are currently out of status, FIU will issue you a new initial I-20. You will be required to pay the SEVIS fee related the new I-20 and leave the U.S. and reenter on the new I-20. It is not suggested to make a new entry into the United States by way of the Caribbean. Taking a cruise is also not a viable reentry option. You may also be required to receive a new F-1 visa, in the case that your F-1 visa is expired.

Note: All authorized employment at your current/previous institution and/or any remaining OPT employment authorization based on your current/previous degree will end once your SEVIS record has been released to FIU.
